Re: Cradle Mountain Water CEO Appointed

At its Board meeting today at the Cradle Mountain Water corporate office in Forth, the Directors appointed Mr Andrew Kneebone as the Chief Executive Officer with immediate effect.

“Andrew Kneebone has been Acting CEO since January and after an extensive external search and review process the Board concluded that it would invite Andrew to take up the role permanently,” Tasmanian Water & Sewerage Corporations Chairman, Mr Geoff Willis said.

Andrew is an executive with vast experience in the industry, having undertaken very senior roles within Victoria’s water industry. He came to Cradle Mountain Water as the Executive Manager Regulation and Strategy and has assisted all the Tasmanian water corporations in preparing for the new regulatory environment. Andrew has a Masters in Business Administration and is a member of the Institute of Company Directors. In his new role he will also be appointed to the Board of Onstream.

“I’ve worked with Andrew since he arrived in Tasmania and I have every confidence in him and the way he will take the company forward,” Mr Willis said.
